Carrying on the Legacy

Twenty-five years ago, Butch Conn decided to provide a place where jazz listeners could enjoy the music in a comfortable, distraction-free environment. He chose the First Unitarian Society of Schenectady for its incomparable acoustics, comfortable seating, abundant sight lines and enchanting atmosphere.

Since then, A Place for Jazz has presented some of the world’s greatest jazz artists, representing all the major styles and genres within the music. Our website, www.aplaceforjazz.org, lists past concerts by the many great instrumentalists and vocalists who have graced our stage.

For our 25th season, we honor Butch, who passed away in 2005, with a stellar lineup of performers, some of whom, like pianist Kenny Barron and trumpeter Terell Stafford, are making return visits. We also continue his practice of presenting younger performers, on the rise in jazz, like saxophonist Tia Fuller. And we take pride in recognizing and presenting performers who have been entertaining music lovers for many years, such as pianist and vocalist Freddy Cole.

We also showcase outstanding local jazz players and singers, as we do this year with the dynamic Latin group Sensemaya.

The 2011 season of A Place for Jazz is one not to be missed. If you have yet to become a member, check out the membership form on page seven, which lists the benefits of various levels of support. About ten percent of our budget goes to diverse educational and outreach efforts, such as helping to supply instruments for music students, and sponsoring clinics by area musicians. Of course, the main reason for supporting A Place for Jazz is helping us bring great jazz to the community, and to keep the flame that Butch started burning brightly.
On July 29th in Proctor’s GE Theatre, a standing room only crowd was treated to a rollicking, joyous celebration of jazz education at its finest. Fifty-two school-age students performed in concert as the culmination of the two-week Proctor’s Jazz Institute under the dynamic leadership of some of our most talented local musicians. Keith Pray did the honors as conductor with Lee Russo, Arthur Falbush, Bob Halek, Michael Lawrence, Kevin Grudecki and intern Alex Slomka providing exuberant support. As the icing on the musical cake, Wyckliffe Gordon, a six-time Jazz Journalist Association trombonist of the year and past APFJ headliner, was the guest educator and performer, introduced by Pray as being highly in demand internationally and one of the most out-of-control trombonists alive.

It’s difficult to describe a literal wall of horns, at least three keyboards with as many basses wielded by children of all sizes cruising through high-energy tunes by Mingus, Ellington, Gillespie, Marsalis, plus with the traditional “When the Saints Go Marching In” being played, get this, without a chart in sight. There were solos galore, some seemingly spontaneous, with hands being raised and the leaders pointing to bring them forward, a group improvisation led by one of the more mature students, a series of duos with Wyckliffe Gordon, and the lyrical trombone and trumpet solos by this special guest.

Of note, was the call-and-response by Mr. Gordon and our local jazz tuba player that was so dynamic that Wyckliffe was looking to the audience with an expression of happy disbelief (this young man was featured at one of the APFJ student performances at intermission in the fall of 2010).

The sprinkling of students dressing for the occasion in shades, slouching hats, some in all black, and one young man in tuxedo, shirt open at the neck with formal bow tie hanging a la Sinatra visually enhanced the musical experience for this attendee.

For any jazz devotee who has felt despair at the seeming lack of youth in jazz, hope was manifested for 90 minutes in downtown Schenectady on a Sunday afternoon in deep summer.
APFJ Fall 2011 Series

September 16
Trumpeter Terell Stafford and saxophonist Dick Oatts will get us started with a stellar quintet. Terell Stafford has played with Benny Golson, Jimmy Heath and the Vanguard Jazz Orchestra. Dick Oatts is a veteran of the Thad Jones/Mel Lewis Orchestra. Their most recent recording is “Bridging the Gap” on Planet Arts.

October 14
The great pianist Kenny Barron will bring his trio to town. He first gained recognition in the 1960s Dizzy Gillespie Quartet. Between 1987 and 1991, he recorded several albums with Stan Getz. He has been nominated nine times for Grammy Awards. Local fans will remember his outstanding series of performances with Nick Brignola at Van Dyck Restaurant in Schenectady.

November 11
Pianist and vocalist Freddy Cole, Nat King Cole’s younger brother, wraps up the season. He was on the road with the Earl Bostic band before starting to hone his interpretations of the Great American Songbook. His 2010 album, “Freddy Cole Sings Mr. B,” was nominated for the Grammy in the category Best Vocal Jazz Album.

All Performances begin at 8 p.m.
First Unitarian Society of Schenectady
1221 Wendell Avenue

September 30
The brilliant young saxophonist Tia Fuller will bring a quartet to the First Unitarian Society stage. The granddaughter of longtime Capital Region bassist Bill Fuller, she has been touring with the all-female band of vocalist Beyoncé. She has recorded three CDs on her own, and was featured on the cover of Jazz Times magazine in 2010.

October 28
The Capital Region group Sensemaya will bring its Latin grooves to our stage. The group is led by music teacher David Gleason and displays the rich sound of Cuban and Puerto Rican rhythms.

They have played numerous festivals and concert series including the Albany Riverfront Jazz Festival, the Albany Latin Festival, Alive at Five, Schenectady’s Summer Night and Jazz on Jay.

Natl Endowment for the Arts 2012 Jazz Masters Award Winners

The National Endowment for the Arts has announced the recipients of the 2012 NEA Jazz Masters Award. The five recipients will receive a one-time award of $25,000 and be publicly honored in January at the annual awards ceremony and concert, produced by Jazz at Lincoln Center.

The winners are:

Jack DeJohnette. Widely regarded as one of the great drummers in modern jazz, Jack DeJohnette has a wide-ranging style that makes him a dynamic sideman and bandleader. His versatility on the drums is accented by his additional accomplishments as a keyboardist: he studied classical piano for ten years before taking up drums.

Von Freeman. Earle Lavon “Von” Freeman, Sr. is considered a founder of the “Chicago School” of jazz tenor saxophonists. With his individual sound, at once husky and melodic, he makes every song his own. As the Chicago Tribune has written of him, “For technical brilliance, musical intellect, harmonic sophistication, and improvisatory freedom, Von Freeman has few bebop-era peers.”

Charlie Haden. Lyrical and expressive on the bass, Charlie Haden has embraced a variety of musical genres, ranging from jazz to country to world music. His work as an educator led to the creation of the Jazz Studies program at California Institute of the Arts in 1982 where he focuses on the spirituality of improvisation.

Sheila Jordan. Sheila Jordan is not only one of the premier singers in jazz, but she is known for her stimulating vocal workshops as well. A superb scat singer, she can just as easily reach the emotional depths of a ballad.

Jimmy Owens. Jimmy Owens is a jazz trumpeter, composer, arranger, educator, and music education consultant. His involvement as an advocate regarding the rights of jazz artists led to the founding of the Jazz Musician’s Emergency Fund, a program of the Jazz Foundation of America.

A Jazz singer renowned among instrumentalists and vocalists for more than 60 years, Jordan has appeared twice at A Place for Jazz, in 1990 and in 2005 (with her longtime colleague Steve Kuhn). Sheila Jordan will add to her many awards inclusion in the 2012 Natl. Endowment for the Arts Jazz Masters recognition.

This supremely creative 82-year old artist, who has long resided less than 40 miles from the Whisperdome in Middleburgh, NY, is revered not only for her unsurpassed vocal mastery of the be-bop idiom learned directly from Charlie Parker and other Jazz legends but also her gripping depth and expressiveness. This was initially captured in the first of her many internationally acclaimed albums, the classic 1962 “Portrait of Sheila,” one of the very few vocal recordings released on the Blue Note label.

In addition to being a gifted and exciting live performer, she has also long been respected as an inspiring and challenging jazz vocal educator in numerous cities in the U.S. and abroad.
