Presenting Jazz Over The Years

The May issue of Jazz Times magazine features vibraphonist Bobby Hutcherson on the cover, reminding me that he was one of the first artists to be presented at Utica College when I was on the staff of the Student Activities Office.

Over the next few years we had the pleasure of presenting major Jazz artists including Stan Getz, the Modern Jazz Quartet, Al Cohn and Zoot Sims and the Buddy Rich Big Band.

Putting on Jazz concerts can be a very rewarding experience, but it also has its moments of panic. Imagine picking up Stan Getz at his motel on a gloomy November day, and hearing him say "what a great afternoon to commit suicide." How about frantically trying to find an electrical outlet for Buddy Rich’s bass player, and laying down an old floor lamp with a plug in the bottom just before the curtain went up? I’ll never forget taking Hutcherson, saxophonist Harold Land and drummer Joe Chambers to dinner and driving like mad back to the concert hall, where we were already late.

Since Butch Conn and A Place for Jazz began presenting Jazz in 1987, there have also been some anxious moments. I was cool as a cucumber when Wycliffe Gordon arrived without his trombone and we had to rent one in a hurry at Hermie’s Music Store. Or the time pianist Bill Charlap arrived only moments before the concert with no chance for a sound check and hoping that the sound would be OK (it was). Eric Alexander proved the devil is in the details when he left his saxophone neck strap at the hotel. I’m still thanking our former vice president, Tom Pierce, for talking to a waiting audience while the strap was being retrieved.

Despite all of this, the results are always worth it, which is why the board and volunteers of a Place for Jazz continue to put together the fall concert series that Butch began way back then. This fall’s series is already in place. The schedule and details are inside.

APFJ Fall 2014 Series

All Performances begin at 7:30 pm
Unitarian Universalist Society of Schenectady,
1221 Wendell Avenue

SEPTEMBER 12
Trombonist Clifton Anderson began performing with his uncle, Sonny Rollins, in 1983. He now leads his own dynamic quintet, which has a repertoire that ranges from swinging bop to Latin grooves and calypso.

SEPTEMBER 26
Tenor saxophonist George Garzone is a member of The Fringe, a trio founded in 1972 that performs regularly in the Boston area and has toured worldwide. He has appeared on over 20 recordings, including as a member of the Grammy-winning Joe Lovano Nonet. He will bring a quartet to our stage.

OCTOBER 10
Award-winning jazz vocalist Alexis Cole has made an impressive impact on audiences ever since she first took the stage as a teenager. She won the 2007 Jazzmobile competition and received an award in the Montreux Jazz Vocal Competition. She will be backed by a quartet that includes the outstanding tenor saxophonist Eric Alexander and the great pianist Harold Mabern.

OCTOBER 24
Bassist John Menegon has been a mainstay of the regional jazz scene for years. He will head the lively quartet that is featured on his latest CD "I Remember You."

NOVEMBER 7
Trumpeter and vocalist Bria Skonberg covers jazz from swing to modern. Her stage presence, coupled with her husky singing voice and trumpet chops, have garnered a “Rising Star” spot in DownBeat Magazine’s 2013 Critics Poll and an “Up and Coming Star” nod from the Jazz Journalists’ Association. She will close out the season with a quintet.

Tickets: $15. One child under 12 admitted for free when accompanied by an adult.
Series ticket: $60 until September 12.

A Place for Jazz is made possible with public funds from the New York State Council on the Arts, celebrating 50 years of building strong, creative communities in New York State’s 62 counties.

A Place for Jazz is a nonprofit organization dedicated to presenting the best in jazz. In addition to grant funding, revenue is generated through ticket sales and membership contributions.

Programs include concerts, student scholarships, public workshops, school-based clinics, a website and general support of Jazz and its musicians. We welcome announcements and comments.
